

Wall Protection

Project: Leicester Royal Infirmary

“ We are very pleased with the wall protection that Gradus installed – especially the wall cladding, which looks fantastic and is exactly what we were after. It’s so important that the children who use our facility feel happy and at ease. The use of the cladding has been a key element in the interior design and creating our fun space theme. ”

Gillian Cairns,
Capital Projects Manager at Leicester
Royal Infirmary

Gradus has supplied and installed a range of wall protection solutions at the East Midlands Congenital Heart Centre, helping to create an engaging, child-friendly atmosphere while making the building interior more hygienic, easier to clean and cheaper to maintain.

The Gradus products installed include SureProtect Design wall cladding, finished with a bespoke printed design that shows a cartoon solar system to give the corridors a different feel to the wider hospital environment. The bespoke design is printed onto the back of a clear textured sheet meaning the cladding is easy to clean and features a textured surface to conceal the effects of impact and abrasion.

Elsewhere in the hospital, Gradus installed its SureProtect Endure protective wall cladding, a durable layer of wall protection that is through-coloured and textured so surface damage does not show. Standard corner guards have also been installed, offering a cost-effective solution to protect vulnerable corners, as well as door frame protectors also made from SureProtect Endure. All have been carefully positioned to provide maximum protection against the constant stream of pedestrian and wheeled traffic that hospitals experience.

Gradus provided Leicester Royal Infirmary with its supply and fit service, which sees the dedicated Gradus Contracts Team take the project from initial survey to design, manufacture and through to installation.
